Company Also Instructed to Make Charge of Actual Cost for Work of Removing Phones.

L. C. Griffiths, of the local telephone company, has received a new order from the federal telephone administration which may be taken as an indication that increased charges, including rentals, will be made under the new system of management. The order, which is one of the first to be received that directly effects the management of the local system, instructs the company to make an increased installation charge when new phones are ordered connected. A flat charge of $2.50 has been made under the rules of the local company but this has been doubled as the minimum charge under the new instructions.

The installation charge is based upon the amount of the monthly rental of the phone installed. The minimum charge is $5 on all phones where the rental charge is $2 or less per month. Where the rental is $2 and not more than $4 the installation fee will be $10, and the order provides that $15 shall be collected

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE WIRES DAMAGED BY STORM

One of the Heaviest Rains in Several Months Falls in This City This Afternoon.

This part of the state is apparently in a rain storm area and heavy downpours have fallen in many central and southern Indiana counties during the last twenty-four hours. The rain this afternoon was one of the heaviest that has fallen here in months. Threatening, black clouds gathered in the north and west about 1:30 o'clock and evidently counties north of here received a hard rain. The storm last night and this afternoon damaged the long distance telephone wires and there was no communication to Indianapolis or other points north of here after 12 o'clock.

A hard downpour fell north and east of this city last night. The clouds threatened rain here but passed over the city with a very light shower. The rain as close as Hayden closely resembled a cloudburst, it is stated, and a passenger train arriving here over the Pennsylvania Lines about 9 o'clock, was required to slow down just before reaching Columbus on account of the downpour.

There was considerably lightning with the rain this afternoon, but so far as known no damage was done in this immediate vicinity. It is believed that the rain between here and Indianapolis was much heavier than in this city.

T. M. Honan, Member of State Commission, Returns From Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O.

OVER 300 HOOSIERS ENROLL

Many of the Men Were Unable to State the Number of the Precinct in Which They Vote.

Thomas M. Honan, of this city, a member of a special commission, appointed by Governor Goodrich to take charge of the registration and voting of Indiana soldiers who are in the various cantonments, returned Thursday night from Camp Sherman, Ohio, where he and the other members of the commission registered about three hundred Indiana soldiers. This is the first trip that has been made by the commission and the task was made quite simple due to the courtesy and the co-operation of the Commandant. The commission spent several days at the camp.

Under the procedure which is followed the secretary of state is required to secure the permission of the commandant for the commission to register the soldiers. The war department has nothing whatever to do with this work. The permission was granted by the Commandant at Camp Sherman and the commission found him ready to assist them in any way he could.

Mr. Honan said that when they arrived at Camp Sherman and made their purpose known to the first officer they met at the headquarters and he directed them to a captain who in turn presented them to a major and finally they reached the office of the Commandant. The Commandant suggested that an order be given to all Indiana men to report at headquarters.

LOCAL MAN BUYS $24,000 ISSUE OF SCHOOL BONDS

Bid by C. H. Ahlbrand of $129 Accepted by Board—Three Other Proposals Filed.

A school bond issue of $24,000 was sold this afternoon by the city board of education to C. H. Ahlbrand, of this city, who offered a premium of $129, the highest bid that was filed. The bids were opened in the presence of the school board at the Hub Clothing Store.

Other bids filed were: Meyer-Kiser Co., Indianapolis, premium of $61.

Fletcher-American Bank, Indianapolis, premium of $25.

The bonds are issued in the denomination of $1,000 each and are redeemable at the rate of $2,000 on July 15, 1919, and the same amount each six months thereafter until January 15, 1925. The bonds bear five per cent. interest. The loan is made to meet the expenses of the improvements at the high school building, including the installation of the new heating plant.

As a result of this arrangement some of the best features of the entire week's program are yet to come. In fact many people who felt that they could not attend all the sessions during the assembly are waiting for the lectures and entertainments which will be presented tonight, Saturday and Sunday.

Anyone who has given attention to chautauqua work and appreciates the best numbers available are amazed when they realize what has been prepared for the balance of the week. For instance, the Crawford Adams Musical Company will give the full program at tonight's session. This company is one of the highest priced entertainment organizations in the country and was secured for one day only. Crawford Adams is the leader and director of

MORE PAY GRANTED THE LOCAL BOARDS

Compensation Allowed in The Past Was Not Commensurate to Time Devoted to Work.

$50 A MONTH THE MINIMUM

Under Old System Members Received Only Ten Cents for Each Questionnaire Handled.

The members of the Jackson county conscription board will be interested in a dispatch from Washington which stated that Provost Marshal Crowder has authorized a substantial increase in the remuneration received by local boards. In the future the boards will receive from $50 to $200 a month, depending upon the volume of the work that is handled by them.

Under the old system the members of the board received ten cents each for each questionnaire that they handled. It is stated that this compensation is inadequate because of the increasing responsibilities upon the board, and especially in view of the new big draft which will be made within the coming month.

Local boards throughout the country have received much praise for the excellent work they have done for the government. County sheriffs have received especial commendation in view of the fact that the work was given to them following their election and they have accepted

PROHIBITIONISTS JUBILANT OVER DRY AMENDMENTS

Confident That "Bone Dry" Law Will be on Statute Books Within a Year.

Washington, August 30.—Prohibitionists in and out of congress today jubilated over the practical certainty that the nation is going bone dry. Both houses have now adopted amendments to the food stimulation act prohibiting the manufacture or sale for the period of the war, of any malt, vinous or spirituous liquors in the country.

The manner in which the amendment is written into law is certain there will be some sort of bone dry prohibition on the statute books before long.

GERMANS TERROR STRICKEN BY RAID

Effective Bombardment of Strongly Fortified City of Mannheim on The Rhine.

INDUSTRIAL WORK BOMBED

Allied Air Men Drop to 100 Feet and Place Explosives With Wonderful Accuracy.

By United Press.

London, August 30.—Describing for the United Press today the "house to house" air raid over Mannheim, the night of August 25, an officer of the Royal Independent air force, declared it an "extraordinary and unparalleled feat of war."

"It struck terror into the heart of every citizen," he declared. "According to documentary and other evidence we have accumulated in other raids, we know that Mannheim was one of the best defended of the Rhine cities and this time we decided upon a fresh method of attack."

"We approached the city over a large stretch of hostile territory, attaining the usual high altitude. The night was clear. The black mass of the city was seen far below silhouetted in the moonlight, astride the curving Rhine railway."

"The Germans signaled our approach and here and there the archers put up a spasmodic shelling. As we reached the outskirts of the city, the Germans began work in earnest. There was a terrific outbreak of barrage which burst at the height we had maintained on previous raids."

"After a careful survey of our bearings, taking in the military objectives, we began a nerve-rendering, two-mile drive."

"Down we went on our noses, wires of the machines breaking in spots and the air whistling and humming as the speed indicators had crept from 90 to 100 and then to 150 miles per hour. We swept down in this fashion until we were nearly 100 feet above the houses. Thousands of feet above us the enemy barrage was bursting in stars in the blackness of the night."

"When diving the city seemed to be flying upward toward us in a black mass which dissolved as the wider stretches became visible. This split the city into small masses. It seemed

WILL GERMANS STOP WHEN THEY REACH THE BIG LINE.

British Already Two Miles Beyond Line on Front of 12 Miles in Arras Region.

(By Ed L. Keen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, August 30.—The question today is not whether the Germans will retreat to the Hindenburg line, but whether they will stop there.

In the Arras region the British are now two to three miles past the Hindenburg line on a front of about twelve miles. They are already beginning movements designed to crumple up the end of the line and fold back the enemy's northern wing.

Fall of Noyon and Bapaume in a single day illustrates the momentum of the allied steam roller, at a time when it might be expected to be slowing up.

Peronne is practically lost and the Germans seem to have definitely abandoned all pretenses of holding the south Somme.

There is only one point of resistance on this side of the river now—the angle where the river turns southward near Peronne. Capture British Smash Through Somme Line Where Germans Intended to Hold to Cover Retreat.

CANADIANS IN NEW ADVANCE

Haig Men Have Pushed Four Miles Beyond Hindenburg Line Along Arras-Cambrai Road.

By United Press.

London, August 30.—The allies have broken through the Somme where the Germans intended to hold temporarily to cover their retreat to the Hindenburg line. Field Marshal Haig announced today that the Somme river has been crossed south and west of Peronne. This apparently brings the British into the very outskirts of the important communication center and flanks it from the south.

This may result in a flanking movement against Ham from the north and thus force immediate retirement to St. Quentin and the remainder of the Hindenburg line, 15 miles to the eastward.

Canadian troops smashed forward this morning in a new attack south of the Arras-Cambrai road. It is reported progressing satisfactorily.

In yesterday's fighting, the British pushed more than four miles beyond the Hindenburg line in this region. British troops are also pushing ahead in the Lawe and Lys valleys on the Flanders front.

The British advanced 2,000 yards on a front of seven miles between Bullecourt and the Scarpe today, and are now within a mile of Queant.

They have captured Ribencourt, two miles south-east of Bapaume. The allies now hold a line on the Somme front from Buscourt to Noyon, of which they have captured the northern and eastern suburbs.

"Between Hendecourt, two miles and a half east of Croisilles, and the Arras-Cambrai road, three miles to the northward, an attack by Canadian troops early this morning was reported developing favorably," the statement said, "Astride the Scarpe British and Scottish divisions continued to advance yesterday afternoon and gained valuable ground in the direction of Eterpigny (eight miles east and south of Arras) Hamblain-les-Press, two miles of Eterpigny, and Plouvain, four miles northwest of Hamblain-les-Press. We hold Remy, a mile west of Eterpigny."

"A number of prisoners were taken in these operations. "In the valleys of the Lawe and Lys we continued to push forward. "In spite of the destruction of bridges, our advanced troops crossed the Somme south and west of Peronne. Clery-sur-Somme, three miles west of Peronne, and Combles, three miles north of Clery sur Somme, have been taken. Here alone over two hundred prisoners and a few guns were captured yesterday."

"North of Bapaume, London and West Lancashire troops made important progress yesterday east of the Sensee river, capturing Bullecourt, two miles east of Croisilles, Hendecourt, a mile and a quarter north of Bullecourt and Les Gagnicourt, five miles east and north of Croisilles and four miles across the Hindenburg line, after hard fighting, together with the powerful German trench systems protecting them."

Paris, August 30.—German counter attacks north-west of Soissons were repulsed, the French war office announced today. Ten fresh German divisions have been rushed up to oppose the Franco-American forces in this area which seriously threatens the whole portion of the enemy's which goes to men of Free America. But despite the duty and privilege of franchise, many men in Jackson county have neglected to register as required by the Indiana law so that they will be qualified to cast their ballots. Unless they register they cannot vote. Whether or not one likes the registration law, enrollment is necessary. It is a condition that must be met before the ballot can be dropped into the box on election day. Voters who have not registered should awaken to the responsibility which rests upon them and should qualify immediately to vote at a time when the nation is fighting for the preservation of our Republic which gives us the right to participate in governmental affairs.

- Voting is one of the highest duties of citizenship and by the average citizen it is regarded as a privilege

Following a change in the personnel of the city board of education, a reorganization meeting was promptly held so that the work of the board could go forward without delay. Because of the greater demands upon the public schools increasingly heavy responsibilities rest upon the members of the board of trustees, and this city is fortunate in having a board that is competent and qualified to deal wisely with these problems. Mr. Don A. Bollinger, the new member of the board, is a prominent young business man and that the members of the city council believe him to be thoroughly qualified for the important position was shown by that fact that he was unanimously elected for the place. Mr. Bollinger is a graduate of the local high school and also attended DePauw University. He is deeply interested in educational matters and is especially qualified for his new position of trust and responsibility because of his training and ability.

What the War Moves Mean

(By J. W. T. Mason, United Press War Expert.)

New York, August 30—Following yesterday's extensive retirement by the Germans toward the Somme, there is a natural pause for the time being along the west front, while conditions readjust themselves to the new alignment.

Marshal Foch, will not press forward recklessly, but will resume his local drives after a careful selection of the weakest spots in the new line von Hindenburg is now establishing.

The front von Hindenburg has secured by his hop backward toward the Somme is almost geometrically straight from its nearest point to the Somme southward for twenty miles to Noyon.

The line is therefore capable of being held by a minimum number of men; but unfortunately for von Hindenburg, it turns at right angles to the eastward at Noyon. The wedge thus created is by far the sharpest pocket into which von Hindenburg has put his troops since his west front retirement began. If Marshal Foch were to succeed in cutting through the German angle at Noyon, he would definitely sever von Hindenburg's southern flank from his western front.

It was for such a result as this that von Hindenburg played and lost when at St. Quentin last spring he tried to separate the British and French armies. The intensity of the German resistance at Noyon is accounted for by the fact that von Hindenburg is compelled to sacrifice his troops without regard to number, in order to prevent Noyon from becoming for the Germans a more fatal St. Quentin.

Marshal Foch, for his part, is maintaining strict accord with his basic strategy in declining to use his men for a reckless gamble at Noyon. The chances in the present war have consistently shown great odds against a break through. If Marshal Foch were to make a major attempt at Noyon and fail, after having paid a price of a hundred thousand casualties, the laurels would be von Hindenburg's. By confining the Noyon operations to a local scale, but remaining on the alert for any sudden weakness, Marshal Foch is adopting the wiser course. Noyon must be evacuated eventually by von Hindenburg, and the whole German line moved back, but von Hindenburg should be prevented from compelling the Allies to pay for this operation by a large casualty list.

"NOISE AT FRONT" WAS EFFECTIVE FOR YANKEES

Sergeant Noah F. Bowman, of this city, has written his brother an interesting letter from the front. He says:

Dear Brother:—Will now take a few of my spare moments and write a line or two. I have been up at the front showing the Huns what the U. S. boys are. We sure gave them h—l for a while. You can read the papers and get more news than I can tell you. It sure was more noise than we could ever make shooting anvils on New Years or any other time. Most noise I ever heard and what I read out of the papers it was the most effective noise that could have been made in our favor. But what it takes to have effect on them just leave that to us and rest with ease, for what it takes to do it the boys in khaki happen to know. I was sure glad to hear about your spuds doing good and I hope that it rains on them soon for spuds are the best of our food, along with beefsteak for breakfast. This is sure some country for potatoes too for there are patches everywhere. The French sure like those French fried spuds as well as we do and they know how to fry them too. I hope my luck is as good in all other battles as it was in the last one for I was lucky enough not to get hurt and am feeling fine at present. Suppose I will go up in a day or two and try it over again.

Will close with love from your loving brother,

Sergeant Noah F. Bowman.
P. S. Well, brother, you can address my mail as Sergeant instead of Corporal for I have been promoted one notch higher while back for my rest.

FUNERAL OF LATE HENRY WOOLERY CONDUCTED TODAY

Former Resident of This County, Dies at His Home in Leesville.

The funeral of the late Henry Woolery, aged seventy-one years, a former Jackson county man, who died Wednesday afternoon at his home in Leesville, was conducted this morning at Leesville. The Masonic Lodge, of which he was a member many years, had charge of the services. The body was interred at the Leesville cemetery.

Mr. Woolery was born in Owen township, Jackson county on Oct. 13, 1846, a son of the late Isaac T. and Sallie Zollman Woolery. He was reared on the farm on which he was born and attended the district school of that neighborhood. After completing his education he taught for a time in the Leesville neighborhood but during the Custer raids in the west he went to that section where he remained for a number of years.

Later, probably in 1882 or 1883 Mr. Woolery returned to Lawrence county and again located in the Leesville neighborhood where he engaged in farming. About twenty-five years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Jane Mathews, of that neighborhood and they lived in or near Leesville until her death about six months ago. Since that time Mr. Woolery lived in Leesville.

He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, for more than thirty years having been affiliated with Cedar Lodge, of Leesville, in which he was an active worker. He was also a member of the Bedford lodge of Elks.

Impressions of Conditions in Europe

In response to numerous requests, Otto H. Kahn, of New York, has made the following statement for publication to the press.

I have been to England and Spain and all through France, where, thanks to the courtesy of General Pershing, I visited the American front and all the American bases and principal lines of communication. I had occasion to talk with many of the leading personages in England, France and Spain.

I was immensely impressed by the spirit of Great Britain and the magnitude and efficiency in all directions of her war effort, which has not, perhaps, been generally appreciated as yet at its full value.

As a business man, I was naturally able to realize best their organization for the business side of the war. They have drafted their best business brains everywhere into the service of the government.

Their supply, transportation, manufacturing and salvage systems, for instance, are marvels of business organization.

Mr. Andrew Weir, Director General of Supplies, and, amongst other things, in charge of the army salvage system, was good enough to show and explain to me his methods of operation.

He told me that in the space of three years he will have saved to the nation through salvage, or, rather, in effect created for the nation, $500,000,000 out of things which formerly went into the scrap heap.

Our army is engaged in similar work, though it has not yet, of course, attained the magnitude of the British. If we find ways of applying after the war systematically in civil life the lessons now being learned as to the use and value of materials heretofore considered absolute waste, the possibility of the creation of wealth by that means in our country almost staggers the imagination.

The desire of Great Britain to do everything possible for our boys over there and to make of the present comradeship in arms a lasting, deep and cordial friendship between the two nations is strikingly manifest throughout the land, from the highest to the lowest.

I believe the importance of meeting them in the same spirit, sincerely, wholeheartedly, and without reservation, cannot be overestimated.

Whatever betide, the world will be safe for peace, humanity and liberty as long as America and Great Britain, understanding and trusting one another, stand on guard. The world will not be safe otherwise for any length of time.

If she should be given the opportunity once more, Germany, by subtle and open means, may be expected to try again to sow the seeds of dissension between America and England after the war, as she did for so many years before the war.

France is superb beyond words. I happened to be in Paris during the two weeks beginning May 27, when the Germans broke through at the Chemin des Dames and came within about forty miles of Paris, when there was a long-range bombardment of Paris almost daily and air raids practically every night.

Yet life and business in Paris went on as before; there was not the slightest evidence of excitement, let alone fear. A good many men sent their womenfolk and children away, other measures of prudence were taken to guard against contingencies, but there was absolute calm and sangfroid.

It was the only outburst of enthusiasm at the magnificent fighting and far-reaching success early last June of the Americans hurriedly thrown into the battle in the neighborhood of Chateau Thierry which showed how great had been the strain, how tense the nerves underneath the outer calm.

It is a soul-stirring story—the story of that relatively small American force rushing forward at a very critical moment and turning the tide by throwing itself upon the enemy with irresistible dash and bravery. When the full account of the war comes to be written it will, I believe, be found that that action, in its psychological and strategic consequences, was among its determining events.

What the men—and the women, too—of France have done of heroism, and resolutely and uncomplainingly borne of sacrifice these past four years forms one of the very noblest chapters in the world's history. The entire civilized world owes a debt to France which it can never repay.

She has, indeed, become the sacred soil of humanity.

It is touching to observe on every hand the affection and gratitude of the French people towards America. In France, as well as in England, there is warmhearted and admiring recognition of the idealism and unselfishness of America's aims and attitude under President Wilson's leadership.

And there is the most genuine and generous appreciation of the valor, the fighting capacities and the conduct of our troops.

It was interesting and significant to notice how universally the French look to us for commercial co-operation after the war.

Through our army's constructive activities they have seen at work on their own soil a race in which tradition, surroundings and the principles and methods of personal initiative and individual enterprise have developed daring, resourcefulness, self-reliance, adaptability and short-cut methods. They want us to join our qualities with their qualities and their opportunities.

And, strange as it may seem in so old a country, France offers many and great commercial opportunities quite apart from the work of reconstruction. Moreover, their colonies are an empire of immense resources and vast potential wealth.

It is to be hoped that the paternalistic control of enterprise and industry, which is a necessary measure in war time, will not be permitted in our country to grow into a permanent feature of our governmental system, and that as soon as possible the fetters now placed upon private initiative and personal incentive will be removed and the genius of American individual enterprise set free again, with due regard, be it understood, for the welfare and opportunities of the masses of the people and for the duty of the State to protect those least able to protect themselves and to prevent exploitation or oppression, undue privilege and unfair practices.

At a time when the unprecedented upheaval of the war has led to a good deal of turgid thought and well-meant, though shallow, sentiment finding expression in crude socialistic preachings and proposals in other countries, including our own, the French people, with the proverbial lucidity of their mental processes and their clear recognition of the realities of things, are turning in the direction of fostering and stimulating personal effort and enterprise and private initiative after the war.

They have tried bureaucratic regime and governmental centralization for many years, and on the whole, their expressions indicate that they see little reason to be particularly gratified with the results of that system.

As to Spain, although German intrigue, unscrupulous plotting and propaganda are rampant, the widely prevalent impression that her people are predominantly pro-German is erroneous. Spain is neutral and means to remain out of the war, but I am convinced that her sympathies, on the whole, are more pro-Allied than otherwise and can be made still more so.

The developments incident to the war have greatly strengthened, together with the economic position and prosperity, the national consciousness of Spain. Their policy is Spain for the Spaniards. They don't intend after the war to be the tail to the kite of any nation or group of nations.

The prevailing sentiment is friendly to America, and I am convinced that with understanding, tact and sympathy towards Spain, coupled with a reasonably liberal policy in furnishing her raw materials and other things she needs from us, we can obtain everything from her which we have a right to expect from a friendly disposed neutral.

Several plans are under contemplation for closer and more active relationship between America and Spain after the war, which is greatly to be welcomed from the point of view of both people.

The Germans are leaving no stone unturned to secure for their industries and commerce after the war an advantageous, influential and permanent footing in Spain, which country, owing to its geographic and economic situation, bids fair to be an important field of activity.

It is to be hoped that we shall not delay too long in laying at least the ground work for the adequate assertion of American enterprise in Spain. The country offers a number of commercial opportunities and great natural advantages, apart from being replete with beauty and interest.

I cannot find words to express the depth and intensity of my admiration for the spirit, the morale and the achievements of the American army.

It is difficult to speak of our boys and their leaders without using language which may sound rhapsodical, and which yet is no more than the bald and sober truth. I have met a great many officers and men on the boat going over to Europe, at our army bases, along the lines of communication and at the front.

Everywhere I found the same simple and unostentatious, yet grim and iron determination to hold life cheap for the honor and glory and safety of America; everywhere the same modest, sympathetic and soldierly bearing, and keen and quick-witted adaptability; everywhere the same note of splendid and eager courage, of willing discipline and service, of uncomplaining endurance under hardships and discomforts, of buoyant good nature and humor, of clean and kindly thought and feeling.

There is grateful acknowledgment in the army of the many things admirably done for the welfare of the men. And there is universal thankfulness that, as far as it is humanly possible to prevent it, the home authorities have not permitted policies to touch the army, and that merit

RESIDENCE OF FRED KAHRS, EAST OF CITY, DESTROYED

Lightning was Probably the Cause—Members of the Family Were Away.

A fire, which resulted in the destruction of the home of Fred Kahrs and family, near Fleming, occurred yesterday afternoon between four and five o'clock. All members of the family were away from home at the time the fire broke out, although Mr. Kahrs, who was returning from work about five o'clock, was the first to discover the conflagration. At that time flames were pouring from the roof and although the neighbors had gathered to help extinguish the blaze, it was too late to save the property.

Although the cause of the fire is not definitely known, it is probable that it resulted from a bolt of lightning. Neighbors stated that a severe clap of thunder was heard about 4:30 and it is probable that the flame started at that time. From the appearance of the burning building, however, it was stated that the flames must have originated from the interior, but it is possible that even in that case lightning may have been the cause.

Miss Lillie Kahrs, a daughter, who is employed in this city, was immediately notified of the fire as was Mrs. Kahrs who is visiting at Westport. For the present the family will make their home with neighbors. The loss is estimated at more than a thousand dollars but is entirely covered by insurance.

Twins, a boy and a girl, were born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heacock, West Brown street.

WORD CANADIANS THROW SCARE INTO THE GERMANS

"It's No Use, They Won't Fight," Said Hun Officer After He Was Captured.

(By Lowell Mellett, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

With the British Armies in France, August 30.—Walking calmly down the Cambrai road near Haucourt during the Canadian advance there a solitary German met a Canadian patrol. He carried rations for two days, an extra shirt, an extra pair of socks. His first question of the Canadians was the way to the prisoner's cage.

"They're hopeless—won't fight," said an officer recently taken from the 214th German division. "The word Canadian throws them into panic." He was referring to his own men. "I shot ten," he continued, "because they wouldn't fight, but it was no use. I had to surrender myself."

Such incidents are piling up as the British troops march forward and probably are responsible for the declaration of a well informed officer in General Herne's army today:

"The German army is beaten," the officer declared. He is a cool, practical thinker, who had not before been influenced by the fluctuating German morale. "Their morale is down to stay," he added. "We've got them whipped."

Prisoners taken in this section declare it was the German purpose to hold the Drocourt-Queant line at all costs, though it was in a bad state of repair and unfit for a good defense. Their orders were to withdraw if strongly attacked, first to an intermediate line and then to the Drocourt-Queant line.

The fighting at Greeland hill and Boiy indicates that the withdrawal was not made voluntarily. It is believed the only immediate defense line of any importance now lies behind the Canal Du Ford.

ed as though we could almost touch the spires and chimneys of the buildings. Each brick and crevice was visible in the moonlight.

"Soon we were skimming over the housetops, first diving low and then rising to avoid the taller buildings. Quickly swinging our noses around we flew toward the appointed military objectives—no hospitals, no nursing homes, no indiscriminate bombing of the British—and released our bombs.

"The German gunners brought their guns to the lowest possible angles but the guns were not mounted so as to hit machines at a height of 200 feet and the hail of shells burst harmlessly over us, covering the squadron with a mantle of smoke.

"Dancing beams from scores of spotlights made the city light as day, illuminating the buildings and actually aiding us to find our targets. The crashing of the barrage fire and the roar of the machine guns combined in one crescendo of tumult as we wound in and out."

"We were so low that we dropped our bombs with the deadliest precision. Every missile found a billet."

"Bumping and swaying wildly in the explosive concussions of our own bombs, we opened the throttles and sped westward, keeping low until away from the batteries. Then we regained our height and flew homeward without the loss of a single machine.

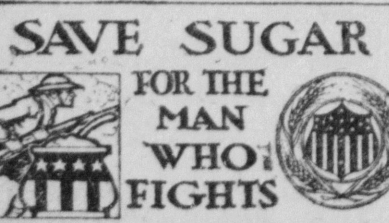

"Mannheim is an immensely important poison gas manufacturing center and has huge munitions plants which have supplied the ammunition for the French sector of the western front."

ters at a specified hour when the members of the commission were present to register them. Several notary publics were engaged in Chillicothe to assist in the work.

Mr. Honan said that the majority of the soldiers showed little interest in the coming election and some of them professed that they did not even know who the candidates were. Considerable trouble was experienced, he said, in filling out the blanks complete as practically none of the men knew the precinct in which they lived. All of them could give the name of the county and the township.

Mr. Honan said that while registering one man he asked him the name of the county in which he lived. Without hesitation the soldier told the number of his precinct and answered the other questions readily.

"You must be a politician to remember all of these things," said Mr. Honan.

"Well, not exactly a politician," replied the soldier. "But I am the candidate for trustee for my township over in Rush county."

The principal trouble that will be experienced by the commission in registering voters is that so many of them will likely be moved to France before election day, and soldiers who are serving abroad are not permitted to participate in the elections because of the trouble that would be encountered in handling the ballots. The commission has postponed its trips to the cantonments as long as possible so as to avoid as much unnecessary work as it can. It is very obvious that it would be useless to register soldiers who will be in France on election day. The commission will meet the first of next week to outline its schedule and trips to other camps will be made before the period for registration closes in October.

Miss Amelia Kramer, who has been visiting relatives here for several weeks, returned to her home at Indianapolis today. She was accompanied by her nephew, Walter Schulte, who will visit her for a few days.

for installing all phones which bring a rental of more than $4 a month. The new order goes into effect September 1 and the installation charge must be made before service is established.

The local company was the first telephone company in the United States, it is stated, to establish the installation charge. It was made on the theory that the rental pays for the service and ordinary repair work and that the subscriber ought to pay for the cost of the original connection with the switch board. That fact that one of the first orders issued by the federal telephone administration is to establish this charge shows that the theory of the local company was accepted as correct. The order applies to every company in the United States.

It is stated that the cost of installing a phone is not as much as the charge fixed by the federal administration, but it is understood that its purpose is to discourage any new installations during the period of the war so that there will be less demand for wire and other equipment which would be required to meet the needs of extensions.

Another rule which has been issued is that the subscriber will be required to pay the cost of removing any phone. This is interpreted to mean that the actual cost of labor and material will be charged against the subscriber whenever any phone is removed from one house to another or even from one room to another.

Since these orders have been received it is expected that other regulations pertaining to the management of the systems will be made within a short time by the federal administration.

Use a Worth While Paper to Carry a Worth While Message

A strong, compact, business communication usually requires a second reading. Does this letter of yours get that second reading—or is it crumpled up and tossed in the waste basket—"a scrap of paper"?

That second reading, that decision to dictate an interested reply, that resolution to take the subject of your letter under serious advisement—these important steps are determined in part by the kind of stationery upon which your letter was written.

Do you not feel comfortable when you mail letters which truly reflect the substantial character of your business? Do you feel satisfied that the paper on which your message was inscribed, no less than the message itself, will command respect?

National Bank Bond

is a paper which carries satisfaction and a feeling of dignity to the recipient of your business letters. We carry National Bank Bond in stock constantly. It is the best selling letter paper we carry and its users repeat regularly when their stock is getting low. Try National Bank Bond for your next stationery and you will appreciate its worth.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson IX. September 1

CHRISTIAN GIVING

Luke 6: 30-38; 21: 1-4

Golden Text—Remember the words of the Lord Jesus, that he himself said, It is more blessed to give than to receive. Acts 20: 35

DEVOTIONAL READING—II Corinthians 9:6-15. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL FOR TEACHERS—Luke 16:9; Romans 12:8; II Corinthians 9:6-15; Hebrews 13:16; Ezra 1:2-4; I Chronicles 29:1-5.

The principles of ethics which shall prevail in the earth when Jesus Christ shall be king are entirely different from those of the world. The worldly spirit always inquires as to what gain will accrue from an action or service. Its policy is doing good for the sake of getting good. Those who have been made partakers of the divine nature, who are really subjects of the kingdom, do good because they have the nature and spirit of God, not because they expect something in return.

I. Give to Every Man That Asketh of Thee (v. 30).

This does not mean that any request that may be made by the idle, greedy and selfish should be granted. Only evil would result from such indiscriminate and unregulated giving. Such benevolence would foster idleness and selfishness. Oftentimes the worst thing you can do for a man is to give him money. The drunkard will only spend it for more drink; the gambler will continue his dissipation. The meaning then is, give to the one asking the thing which he needs. The man in poverty needs to be given a way to earn his living, rather than to be given money without the necessity of labor. There is that in the human heart which refuses charity, and cries out for a means to honestly gain a livelihood.

II. Of Him That Taketh Away Thy Goods, Ask Them Not Again (v. 30).

"Ask" here means demand. It doubtless forbids the forcible demanding of the return of that which has been taken from one.

III. Do to Other Men as You Would That They Should Do Unto You (vv. 31-34).

This ethic puts life's activities on the highest possible ground. He does not say, refrain from doing that which you would not like to be done to you, as even Confucius taught; but to positively make the rule of your life the doing to others as you would wish them to do unto you. Loving those who love us, doing good to those who do good to us, and lending to those from whom we hope to receive, is just what all the sinners of the world are doing. The child of the kingdom of Christ is to be different.

IV. Love Your Enemies (v. 35).

That which is natural to the human heart is to hate the enemy. To love in the real sense means to sincerely desire the good of even one's enemy and willingness to do anything possible to bring that good. Such action is only possible to those who have been born again. Christ loved those who hated him. He was willing even to die for his enemies.

V. Lend, Hoping for Nothing Again (v. 35).

This is what the Heavenly Father is constantly doing. He is kind and gracious unto the unthankful and the wicked. He sends his rain and sunshine upon the unjust and sinners. He makes fruitful the toil of those who blaspheme his name. He thus does because it is his nature to do so.

VI. Be Merciful (v. 36).

The example for the imitation of the disciple is the Heavenly Father.

VII. Judge Not (v. 37).

To judge does not mean the placing of just estimates upon men's actions and lives, for, "By their fruits ye shall know them." The tree is judged by the fruit it bears. The thorn tree does not bear figs, nor the apple tree bear grapes. Our only way of discerning the character of men and women is their actions. That which is condemned is censorious judgment—the impugning of motives.

VIII. Condemn Not (v. 37).

This means that we should not pass sentence upon men for their acts, for to their own master they stand or fall (Rom. 14:4). The real reason why such action is not warranted is that the bias of our hearts and the limitation of our judgments render it impossible to righteously and intelligently pass judgment.

IX. Forgive (v. 37).

Those who forgive shall be forgiven. The one who has realized the forgiving mercy of God will be gracious and forgiving toward others.

XI. Liberality Determined by What Is Left (Luke 21:1-4).

The rich cast into the treasury much, but it was from their abundance. The poor widow cast in all that she had; there was nothing left. God estimates a gift by what one has left, not by the size of the gift. To give the widow's mite is to give all. For the millionaire to give the widow's mite would mean for him to give his millions.

I did not hear a single real complaint except on one minor score—and on that the complaint is almost unanimous—namely, the stiff collar and general inappropriateness and discomfort of our army uniform, which, by the universal verdict of our own men and of those of other nations, is both the least well-appearing and the least practical of all uniforms.

There is also some grumbling about the dilatoriness in making payment to soldiers, and about the slowness with which mail is handled—the latter a really serious grievance, for prompt and frequent communication from and with home is of great importance to the morale of the army.

In addition to the magnificent record our army has already made as a fighting force, and the promise, amply warranted, of further great achievement, the capacity which our West Pointers in command of the great army bases have demonstrated for far-sighted, broad-visioned, boldly-conceived planning, for constructive work and for efficient business organization is nothing short of marvelous.

I am pretty familiar with big organization work, but I have seen nothing which impressed me more, and very few things, indeed, which impressed me as much as the work planned, executed and administered at the French harbors, at our bases and along our line of supplies by that great chief, General Pershing, and the officers whom he has placed in direct charge.

Nor have I met any wiser or better posted or more hard-working men than those at the head of special departments of the army with whom I had occasion to come into contact.

And from what I have seen at Brest and elsewhere the same spirit of devoted and unselfish service and of intense, unsparing, ceaseless effort pervades the navy.

An immense debt of gratitude and recognition is due from the nation to its defenders. They have won golden opinions wherever they have been in Europe, they have been a revelation to other nations, they have shed lustre upon the name of America.

No American can see what our army and navy are doing in Europe in the way of fighting, of planning, constructing, administering, no one can see their morale, spirit and behavior without being deeply thrilled with pride and gratitude.

No American can come in touch with the affectionate admiration, with the trust and faith of the allied nations towards our country without feeling even more profoundly and reverently than before the high privilege of being an American citizen, and without being stirred by a solemn sense of the obligation to do whatever he individually may be capable of doing, to prove himself a worthy servant of the Great Republic in war as well as in peace, and an earnest and sincere helper, however modestly and humbly, towards the realization of her high ideals and lofty missions.

School-Teacher Needed Brains.

I was afraid I would have to give up my school because of severe stomach, liver and bowel trouble which caused such a pressure of gas that I could not use my brain at times, and my heart would palpitate awfully. THE LOCAL BOARDS the new responsibilities willingly and have carried on the work along with their other responsibilities in connection with their offices. Many times they are required to work long hours far into the night in order to complete plans for the calls which they receive.

The dispatch from Washington relative to the proposed increase pay for the local board members follows:

Increased pay for the hard-working local draft boards has been authorized by Provost Marshal General Crowder. Under an order announced today, members of all boards will receive from $50 to $200 a month, the amount varying with the number of registrants on their rolls.

Fifty dollars will be the minimum for members of boards with 1,000 registrants or less. Heretofore the compensation has been ten cents for each registrant, which in many cases was a mere pittance and not in keeping with the time devoted to the task.

Officers at General Crowder's office said today the local board members have made real sacrifices to do their patriotic service, many of them having to give their entire time, and it had been realized that they were not properly compensated.

Frank Smith, of Washington, was a business visitor here this morning.

SMOTHERING SPELLS

And Dizziness Relieved By Black-Draught, Says Ohio Lady.

Coalton, Ohio.—Mrs. Lucy J. Beatty, of R. F. D. 1, this place, writes: "Some time ago I had a great deal of trouble with my stomach. It seemed there was a hard lump formed in my stomach. This lump was sore and every time I would eat I would feel bloated and pained me terribly. It would seem to come up toward my chest.

I would have smothering spells and feel dizzy. I would start across the floor and would have to sit down. At night I smothered so I couldn't sleep. I would go to bed and wake with a start and feel like I would smother to death. The doctors said it was my age and doctored and doctored, and I didn't get any better.

I was almost discouraged so I began to look around for other remedies and while reading the Almanac I decided to try Black-Draught, which I did. I bought two packages and took it regular for awhile and it cured me and I don't have any more trouble of that kind."

If you suffer from stomach and liver troubles, give Thedford's Black-Draught a trial. It has helped thousands of others—why not you? All druggists. NCB-16

Dry Beer Dealers See Falling Off of Trade with Coming of the Cold Weather.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, August 30—Former saloon keepers who are still "hanging on" by selling near beer and other such drinks, today declared that the proposed tax of two cents on each ten-cent purchase of soft drinks, would be the knockout blow to their business.

Many proprietors of soft drink establishments will close their doors. These places have served as a substitute for the bar room in many places. These places have barely recovered from the prohibition law's effect.

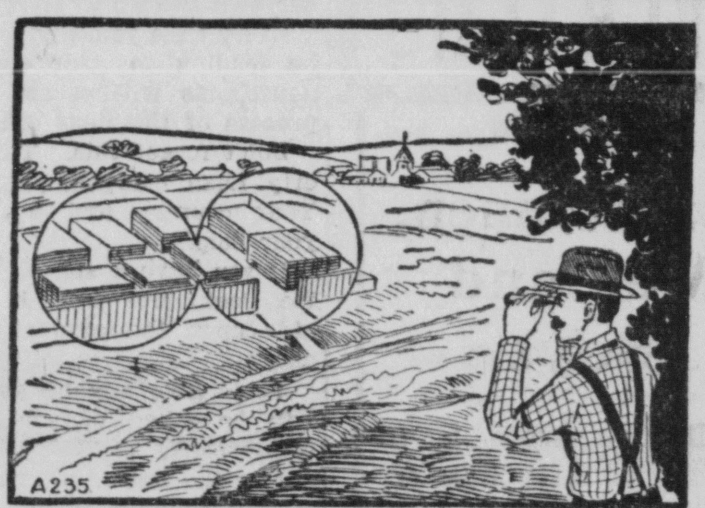

They also see a falling off in their sales with the coming of cold weather when the demand for soft drinks will decline.

"One former saloon keeper here expressed his feeling in a sign over his bar saying:

"I have been in this business a long time and have been cussed, discussed, hung up and robbed and the only reason I am sticking to it is to see what they will do with me next."

The Salvation of the World Depends on the Army of 5,000,000 That Uncle Sam is Raising.

Uncle Sam is rapidly preparing for an increase of his fighting forces to an aggregate strength of 5,000,000 men. This was the figure agreed upon in the Paris conference of several months ago as necessary to a speedy allied control of the situation and eventual victory for allied arms. America alone could produce the men.

France already has put practically every available man in the ranks. England has drawn upon her man power to a point that is beginning to make itself felt in the production of war munitions. Belgium has all of her little remnant of population lined up along the front almost to a man. And Italy has all she can do to care for herself.

This five million will represent the flower of America's fighting material. Upon it will depend to no small degree the ultimate issue of the war. To it all Europe will be looking in eager expectation from the moment it takes the field aggressively. It is expected to be the straw that will break the Prussian camel's back.

We must do our full duty by that five million in the next loan.

And in doing this we must not overlook this fact. In its ranks will be thousands and thousands of boys who are now at home. Some of these will be from our own firesides. They will be our boys in literal truth. No longer will that army be an impersonal unit. It will be made up largely of our own flesh and blood.

Every time you buy a bond you will be lending to your own. For few households will escape the coming process of the next draft.

Don't forget this. The Fourth Liberty Loan campaign opens Sept. 28. Your country and your sons need your help.

If you have a son eligible for service, look him over before you decide upon the amount of your purchase.

You'd give a good deal more than will be asked of you to have him safely back.

And the better prepared that army is the sooner it will finish its work; the less danger he will be subjected to; the quicker he will return.

Do your part by that five million—and your boy.

Get ready to do it early.

PATRIOTISM AND PER CENT

Interest Rate on Fourth Liberty Loan
Fixed at $4\frac{1}{4}$ Per Cent.

Secretary McAdoo has definitely announced that the Fourth Liberty Loan bonds will bear $4\frac{1}{4}$ per cent interest.

The Secretary has been insistent that the Government interest rate should be stabilized at $4\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. He points out that a raise in the rate of interest of only one-fourth of 1 per cent on \$10,000,000,000 of Government bonds would mean an annual increase of \$25,000,000 in interest charges, and that this money would have to be raised by increased taxation and paid by the people of the country. It would not be paid by one class only, because there are consumption as well as other kinds of taxes, and the consumption taxes reach every class of people.

"As an intelligent people," said Secretary McAdoo during the Third Liberty Loan campaign, "we should now make a stand for the financing of our Government during the period of this war at a stabilized rate of interest, say at $4\frac{1}{4}$ per cent per annum, so that all business and all investments may be adjusted to that basis, and so that we ourselves may protect ourselves against successively increased rates of interest on Government loans."

BRITISH ADVANCE 2,000
YARDS ON 7-MILE FRONT

Vesle-Aisne line. In the Vesle region the French are approaching the St. Gobain forest, regarded as one of the greatest defensive positions on the west front.

The Germans are fighting desperately and doggedly to hold the line of the Aisne heights north of Soissons, which have been assailed by the French Tenth army in which Americans are brigaded. If these are driven back any considerable distance it will be by the superior fighting casualties of the French and Americans and their greater gun power.

In yesterday's attack there was no indication that the line would be found soft behind the usual rear guard machine gun nests. The element of surprise cannot enter this fighting as the German staff obviously recognizes the importance of the line under attack and undoubtedly has expected the assault for some time. The fighting is over ground which has been a battlefield since 1914.

It contains a series of great plateaus, with an extensive cave and a net work of old trench systems. We are fighting, in consequence, a curious mixture of open and old trench warfare, the latter requiring strong artillery preparation.

Yesterday's operation carried the French and Americans forward but the fighting is of a far different nature than that encountered in the recent push from the Marne, when the Americans marched for miles without encountering a German.

Every foot of the Chavigny-Juvigny region is contested. The famous Prussian Seventh Regiment is opposing the Americans. Prisoners taken are typical Prussians. Some are unusually arrogant.

When one officer was asked where he came from, he came to full attention, pulled himself to his full height and answered defiantly: "Prussia." There are some instances of a lone American picking up several Prussians. A sergeant from Wisconsin ran upon four concealed in a shell hole. A' surrendered.

It is now permissible to publish the arrival of the Americans in this part of the battle front. Throughout Tuesday, Tuesday night and Wednesday, American men, guns and wagons wound up roads through valleys which connected vast plateaus. They passed over ground, conquered by the first and second divisions when the Americans first fought in the Soissons region.

Late Wednesday just as the news of the repulse of a German counter attack came in I saw an entire American battery silhouetted against the dark sky, the men urging on their horses as they hurried up along the very peak of the long rise. Meanwhile infantry and machine gunners were moving along the roads and across the fields. The movement was made in conjunction with the French

It's a tough war! Company E is eating ice cream and strawberry short cake every night. The mess fund was drawn upon for the purchase of an ice cream freezer. Strawberries are plentiful and cheap in France these days. The kitchen police turn the freezer in the shade of the chateau trees during the afternoon, milk is obtained from the near-by dairies and everything is ready for the evening meal. The ice cream and strawberries are eaten to pleasing tunes turned out by the company orchestra. Yes, it's a tough war!—From the Spiker, France.
